OVER NINETY YEARS OF SERVICE AND PROTECTION

from the STAFF

DO YOU HAVE SOME CHANGE?

Lt. Colonel David A. Flannigan
Assistant Superintendent

When the Missouri State Highway Patrol was created 93 years ago, it was comprised almost exclusively of troopers, with only a handful of civilian employees. At that time, troopers were almost solely restricted to performing highway safety duties and the civilian staff handled clerical responsibilities. As the Patrol's positive reputation grew, so did its responsibilities:

- The Patrol was designated as the agency for both the criminal records repository (now CJIS) in 1934, and for the crash reports repository (now PRD).
- When the need for a statewide crime lab was identified, the Patrol answered the call once again. Our crime lab was one of the first ones in the country when it opened in 1936.
- When the need to test driver competency was proposed, the responsibility was given to the Patrol (1952). Initially, troopers gave driver tests until civilian examination staff were hired.
- When the motor vehicle inspection program (1967) was created to ensure safe vehicles traveled on Missouri's roadways, it was assigned to the Patrol.
- Although troopers handled some criminal investigations in the early days, the statutory creation of the Division of Drug and Crime Control didn't occur until 1983. Today, DDCC is recognized as a trusted statewide resource for a wide variety of investigative services.
- After intelligence gaps were revealed following terrorist attacks on September 11, 2001, the Patrol was once again the solution. The Missouri Information Analysis Center (2005) became Missouri's 24-hour response to that concern.

The list is longer than the few changes I mentioned. Almost any time a need arose relating to statewide police services or motor vehicle and driver safety, the Patrol has been the answer. Unlike in 1931, careers with the Patrol are now as varied as the people working in them.

As the need for more services has grown, so has the diversity and talent of our employees. I am proud of our employees who work hard to provide quality services to the public and to our criminal justice partners. They have not only adapted to change throughout the decades, but they continually keep the Patrol on the edge for future change. As a tenured employee, I appreciate that employees continue to keep us on our collective toes and increase our comfort with what is on the horizon.

When talking to retirees, the conversation often includes how different things are today. I agree, but we all know the Patrol wouldn't have survived if we were still working under the business model created in 1931. One thing that won't be sacrificed is our Core Values. Integrity, responsibility, respect, professionalism, compassion, resourcefulness, character, and commitment are things that have ensured the Patrol has thrived for nearly a century. They are just as relevant today as they were in 1931, and they are who we are as an agency when everything else is stripped away.

So, what do you think is next for the Patrol? With the talent and dedication of our employees, the sky is the limit. We simply need to keep conceptualizing and preparing for our next challenge. I'm excited to look forward and I hope you are, too!

Looking Back

ON THE COVER

The photo on the front cover features downtown Jefferson City and was taken by the Patrol Photographer Rachel Hays using a drone. "Having a drone license has added a layer of grandeur to visual storytelling. It helps me navigate through a variety of environments and gives me the ability to reach locations that are difficult or dangerous for humans to access. A drone enables me to capture images from different heights, angles, and positions, providing a wide range of creative possibilities. It helps me capture unique details at special events and provides a memorable experience for social media viewers."

A TROOPER'S HAT

Creates Joy at Community Outreach Event

Troopers were challenged to a round of basketball.

Tpr. R. Mike Malone's (Q/RCOD) patrol hat was the favorite accessory of the day.

By Trooper R. Mike Malone (Q/RCOD)

A heartwarming scene unfolded at the Divine Holiness Community Outreach Center in Caruthersville, MO, as my campaign hat made its way around a crowd.

Members of Troop E and the Recruiting and Community Outreach Division recently attended an event aimed at fostering positive relationships and delivering much needed supplies to the Divine Holiness Community Outreach Center. However, the event became a memorable occasion for all due to a simple gesture.

While troopers were playing a pickup basketball game (and losing, I may add), my hat became the center of attention when it caught the eye of a curious child. The child quickly grabbed my attention and politely asked, "Can I put that on?" I told him, "Of course!" I playfully placed my hat on the child's head, sparking a chain reaction of joy and excitement with everyone. One by one the children eagerly lined up to try on the campaign hat, each wearing it with a sense of pride and admiration. Many of the children said, "I am a trooper!"

As the event continued, our interactions extended beyond the hat, with conversations about safety tips and the sports they played, talking with them about their aspirations to become troopers. Of course, I took every opportunity to recruit a future trooper. The hat may have started off as a functional piece of my uniform, but it became a positive symbol of connection at the event. Its journey from one child to the next left a lasting impression on both the kids and the troopers, serving as a reminder of the power of small positive gestures in building a stronger community.

Corporal Reed Named January DPS Sworn Team Member of the Month

DPS Director Sandra Karsten presents the January 2024 Sworn Team Member Of The Month Award to Cpl. Dustin Reed (Q/DDCC).

By Sgt. Darrin R. Haslag (Q/DDCC)

On Monday, January 29, 2024, Corporal Dustin B. Reed of the Division of Drug and Crime Control's Special Victims Unit was honored as the January 2024 Department of Public Safety Sworn Team Member Of The Month. This award was presented to Cpl. Reed for his diligent work identifying a Missouri suspect in a child exploitation investigation, which began in Indiana. After conducting interviews and executing several search warrants, he identified the individual and discovered thousands of digital files of child pornography in his possession. As a result, he was able to secure indictments on federal charges for the suspect.

Department of Public Safety Director Sandra K. Karsten presented the award to Cpl. Reed. Director Karsten stated, "I thought Dustin had received this award once before and he corrected me. He says this is his third time. We are very proud of the work that you do. You are very tenacious about it. I know that you are going to get all the details, and you are going to be persistent. Whoever the suspect is, we know they are going to jail. They are going to be brought to justice, and so we appreciate all you do for the people that can't speak for themselves. There is no limit to how many times you can be nominated or selected for this award, so congratulations." Cpl. Reed had previously been awarded Sworn Team Member Of The Month in August 2020, and again in March 2021.

Colonel Eric T. Olson was present and commented on Dustin's award, saying, "It certainly takes a lot of commitment to do the job that you do, and I appreciate that very much. I do appreciate the great work that gets done by DFIU (now the Special Victims Unit) every day."

When asked to comment on his award, Cpl. Reed humbly stated, "This is one of many cases that we have going all the time, but none of these would be possible without everybody pitching in and everybody doing work. There is so much more that goes on behind the scenes. I'm just kind of the face on this case. Everybody in this group is instrumental in what we do."

Congrats, Dustin, on a job well done!

Public Information Specialist III

On February 26, 2024, Sergeant Thomas Hall was honored by the Department of Public Safety as Sworn Team Member Of The Month for February 2024. Sgt. Hall was nominated for his investigative skills that led to a traffic stop on Interstate 44 becoming one of the largest roadside seizures of illegal hydroponic marijuana in Missouri. Sgt. Hall found a total of 1,668 pounds of processed hydroponic marijuana in vacuum-sealed bundles with a potential street value of $5 million. Outstanding job, Sgt. Hall!

Major Mike Turner (Q/FOB) presented Sgt. Tom Hall (D) with a challenge coin.

Herb and I would like to thank my Patrol family for their support during my cancer journey these past several months. We deeply appreciate the texts, cards, phone calls, and donations. We especially appreciate the prayers and know God hears them. We are blessed to be part of the Patrol family.

Trooper Isaiah S. Lemasters (F) became an internet sensation overnight. On February 28, 2024, a 57-second clip was posted to Troop F's X page (formerly Twitter) of dashcam footage showing Tpr. Lemasters moving a large round bale out of the roadway. However, he did not use his cruiser to do this. With no push bars and not wanting to damage his vehicle, Tpr. Lemasters took the hands-on approach. The clip has been viewed over 1.8 million times on X and 1.7 million times on Facebook.

ANNUAL JAMES BAVA TOY DRIVE A HUGE SUCCESS

By Dr. Mark Pottorff (Q/PIED)
Curator

In November 2023, Jim and Alyce Bava again asked the Patrol family to help honor their son, Trooper James M. Bava, who made the Ultimate Sacrifice in 2015. Every year since 2017 (except during COVID) the Patrol family has stepped up and helped provide toys for children in hospitals across Missouri.

According to the Bavas, "In 2023, seven troops (Troops A, C, E, F, G, H, I) and General Headquarters participated. Also, Gabby from Troop C held a toy drive as part of a rodeo which collected both toys and cash.

"Three hospitals received donations this year. They were St Louis Children's Hospital in St Louis, Children's Mercy Hospital in Kansas City, and Mosaic Hospital in St Joseph. I'm not sure of the number of donations but it was certainly well into the hundreds if not more. Troop C's trailer was almost full for the donation drop off at St Louis Children's Hospital. This was a compilation of all troops on the east side of the state and GHQ. The donation drops at Mercy Hospital and Mosaic Hospital each filled about half of my van and were from the west side of the state. Also, St Louis Children's Hospital was given a cash donation of $1,720 which came from several of the troops and Gabby's rodeo. I'd say a conservative estimate in the value of the toy donations was around $15,000."

Mr. and Mrs. Bava explained why a toy drive is an appropriate manner to honor their son and his sacrifice. "When James was eight years old, he won a Toys R Us $100 toy raffle. It was during the Christmas season, and when he was asked what he would like to do with the toys, he said he would like to give them to other children who may not have gifts for Christmas. After picking out toys as gifts, we brought them over to the Salvation Army to be handed out to needy children. James had a heart for children at an early age that continued through his adult life. He always had a stuffed animal or two in his squad car in case he worked an incident that involved a child."

Thank you to our Patrol family for such an overwhelming response again this past year and for making the MSHP Tpr. James M. Bava Toy Drive such a success. Tpr. Bava's family concluded that, "It was great visiting all the troops and GHQ, enjoying some delicious Costco cake, and chatting. We are hopeful that this tradition continues for the foreseeable future."

On February 9, 2024, Recruiting and Community Outreach Division members attended the Night to Shine hosted by the Tim Tebow Foundation. This extraordinary, prom-style evening celebrates the lives of people with special needs. As the evening began, families from all walks of life gathered in the grand ballroom, their faces beaming with anticipation, ready to start the party. With troopers at their side, the attendees, dressed in their finest attire, were greeted by cheers and applause as they made their grand entrance. The venue was transformed into a wonderland adorned with shimmering decorations and music that ignited the dance floor. Laughter and smiles filled the air as we formed new friendships. In addition to the dancing, countless activities catered to every person's unique interests. Photo booths captured the essence of the evening, preserving the memories of pure joy and happiness. The Night to Shine touched the lives of everyone present, leaving an indelible mark on our hearts. It was a testament to the power of love, acceptance, and the unwavering belief in the boundless potential of every person.

SUPER BOWL

CHAMPIONS

Sgt. David Kline (A) secures the crime scene.

FROM CONFETTI TO CRIME SCENE

By Sgt. Andrew J. Bell (A)

If you're a Kansas City Chiefs fan or a nearby resident of Kansas City, celebrating Super Bowl victories is becoming a new, yearly tradition. The Chiefs have now won back-to-back Super Bowls, so naturally there are back-to-back victory parades. Last year's victory parade was a great success, but preparation and strategic planning can never be taken for granted. So, after weeks and months of planning, this year's Victory Parade and Rally Detail was assembled on February 14, 2024, in the heart of Kansas City (no pun intended, #valentinesday).

The Patrol provided approximately 50 uniformed troopers along with additional Patrol employees assigned to governor security, emergency operations center overwatch, undercover surveillance, radio communications, and logistical support. The primary mission for our troopers was to provide safety and security along the parade route and near Union Station. The Patrol worked collaboratively with nearly 800 officers from 20 different agencies, including agencies from Kansas and our federal law enforcement partners. Several troopers had been assigned to this detail in previous years, but many were experiencing it for the first time. Despite the hundreds of thousands of people, the biggest concern throughout most of the morning was retrieving footballs that had landed on the parade route and were out of reach from the children. Needless to say, many of our troopers got to practice their best no-look pass!

The sun warmed the crowd. Hours became minutes. And the wait was nearly over. At approximately 11:30 a.m., Mr. MVP, Patrick Mahomes, was strolling down the parade route. The crowds cheered loudly, and the confetti cannons erupted boldly. There was a huge sense of gratitude for a beautiful, mild February day, and for the opportunity to be part of a national spectacle. It was a great day!

At approximately 2 p.m., as the Rally was concluding, gunshots rang out, and a large crowd of people near the west stage at Union Station began to run in panic. The radio call came, "We have a shooting at Union Station." Troopers and officers ran into the crowd. Some apprehended suspects, some provided first aid, some comforted lost children, some secured the crime scene, and some searched acres of ground to ensure there were no other suspects or victims unaccounted for. The day quickly turned from great to not-so-great. It was chaotic. It was shocking. It was tragic. However, our troopers did not hesitate. They reacted quickly and were steadfast. Their training and experience kicked in, and they worked together as one team. Compassion and steadiness provided stability for many terrified people. Several members of the media, public officials, and citizens have commented on the quality of professionalism and readiness of our officers. The various law enforcement agencies, emergency medical responders, and a handful of good Samaritans should be commended for their involvement and collaboration throughout the detail and the aftermath of the shooting.

This day will unfortunately be etched into history and remembered as a mass shooting, with one person killed and 22 others wounded, including several children. But it will also be a day when hundreds of officers came together. No matter the patch they wore on their sleeve nor the color of their uniform, a team of brave men and women assembled, determined to serve and protect.

Tpr. Matthew Neely (H) keeps watch at the Union Station Parade Rally

Sgt. Andrew Bell (A) and Tpr. Nicholas Regan (H) along with Shawnee, KS, Police and Riverside, MO, Police, received friendship bracelets from the crowd.

TEAMWORK AND COMMITMENT

By: Sgt. Darrin R. Haslag (Q/DDCC)

On January 12, 2024, seven Missouri State Highway Patrol employees were honored as the December 2023 DPS Sworn Team Members Of The Month for their roles in a homicide investigation led by investigators from the Sikeston Department of Public Safety and the SEMO Major Case Squad. This investigation, and the efforts of the Troop E Criminal Investigative Unit of the Patrol's Division of Drug and Crime Control, along with the division's Investigative Analyst Unit, resulted in a first-degree murder charge in a brutal September 2023 homicide. The Patrol team members honored were Sergeant J. Scott Stoelting, Corporals Nogi H. McDaniel, Matthew B. Foster and Jonathan T. Wilson, Trooper Russell R. Gibson, and Investigative Analysts Hunter N. Ellis (now Surface) and Casey S. Schnieders.

These Patrol team members were part of the multi-agency investigation launched after a Sikeston, MO, woman was found beaten to death in her burglarized home. It took four days to process the crime scene, and through a combination of solid police work and modern investigative techniques, including Highway Patrol Crime Lab DNA analysis, a suspect in the brutal killing was located and arrested.

The award nomination read, "The murder charge that was filed by the Scott County prosecutor in this heinous case was a direct result of the critical thinking, utilization of technology and teamwork of the Sikeston Department of Public Safety, SEMO Major Case Squad investigators, Scott, Nogi, Matthew, J.T., Russell, Hunter, Casey, and other members of the Highway Patrol. They worked efficiently and collaborated seamlessly. The charges that resulted are mere accusations and not evidence of guilt. Evidence in support of the charges must be presented before a court of competent jurisdiction whose duty is to determine guilt or innocence."

DPS Deputy Director Kevin Bond presented the award winners with a plaque, recognizing the group's efforts in the investigation and spoke of his time as a sheriff, specifically his previous work with major case squads. He shared his appreciation for the expertise members of the Missouri State Highway Patrol bring to these types of investigations and highlighted the importance of working relationships between agencies. Deputy Director Bond spoke of how major case squads assemble the "best of the best" to bring these major crimes to a successful conclusion. He thanked the group for the efforts they not only brought to this investigation but also many others they are involved in.

Speaking of the working relationship Troop E CIU has with surrounding agencies, Colonel Eric T. Olson stated, "The Southeast Missouri law enforcement community is really a model for the state and that is because of the effort all the agencies put forth to make it happen." Col. Olson presented the group with challenge coins, speaking of the Missouri State Highway Patrol's Core Values, which were listed on the coin's face. Col. Olson spoke specifically of the core value of Commitment and how that value was not only evident in this investigation but also in other cases with which the Troop E CIU is called to assist. Deputy director Bond also presented the group with a Department of Public Safety Director's challenge coin. Before giving them the coin, Deputy Director Bond read the coin's inscription, which he said is the same phrase located near the entrance to the Missouri State Capital's Senate Chambers. This phrase reads, "Not to be served, but to serve." Deputy Director Bond finished by telling the group, "You've exemplified that."

Congratulations to Sgt. Stoelting, Cpl. McDaniel, Cpl. Foster, Cpl. Wilson, Tpr. Gibson, and Investigative Analysts Surface and Schnieders on a job well done!

55 YEARS AGO

APRIL 1969 - The front page of the April 1969 Patrol News featured an architect's drawing of the planned Missouri State Highway Patrol Academy building. Excavation for the new building had started the month before. Another story told of how Tpr. Norman G. Kaden (C) assisted an aircraft which was low on fuel and was requesting assistance to make an emergency landing. Tpr. Kaden made the decision that a straight portion of Missouri Highway 79 near Clarksville, MO was the best place for the emergency landing. He radioed to have the pilot follow his flashing red lights and, with help from other law enforcement, blocked off Hwy. 79, placing flares on both sides of the road. The aircraft landed safely.

45 YEARS AGO

APRIL 1979 - Sgt. L.D. Long (F) reported on an urgent call he received concerning a pregnant woman headed to a Jefferson City hospital. She had run out of gas 18 miles from town and was rather excited, as the baby was coming. Responding to help the woman in her plight was none other than Officer 1, Colonel Alvin R. Lubker. He made contact with the expectant mother and headed toward the hospital with her. An ambulance en route from the hospital met up with the colonel and took the woman on to the hospital. Col. Lubker remarked, "What a way to start a Monday morning."

MARCH 1989 - This edition featured photos from two K-9 assisted drug busts. Tpr. D.A. Henson and Wico (I) were called to search a Toyota van-truck. After Wico gave a positive response, officers found 350 pounds of processed marijuana in the vehicle. Tpr. G.C. Althage and K-9 Vax (C) responded to a call to search a corvette for drugs on Interstate 44. Vax indicated a positive response to the presence of drugs, but the troopers could not find any contraband. Vax persisted in his positive response, so the vehicle was towed to be searched again. The officers found methamphetamine and numerous unidentified pills inside a bogus aerosol can and a pump-type toothpaste container.
